The Hope for Depression Research Foundation (HDRF) hosted its Inaugural New York Seminar and Luncheon at the Plaza Hotel on Wednesday, October 22, 2008.

The event featured noted TV journalist Chuck Scarborough as Master of Ceremonies; Dr. Steven Roose, a leading U.S. expert in depression, who discussed how depression impacts the physical body; and celebrity speaker, Linda Hamilton who shared her personal experience with depression.

Hamilton, the iconic actress of "Terminator" fame, delivered a poignant speech about her lifelong battle with Bipolar Disorder. Known for her fierce portrayal of action heroine Sarah Connor, Hamilton revealed that her personal life was crumbling. Suffering from the condition since childhood, it was an uphill battle as Hamilton was repeatedly misdiagnosed. The condition took a toll on the actress' personal life, including two marriages, until she ultimately found the proper treatment. A moving and uplifting story, Hamilton's speech relayed a positive message of hope and healing.
