

BUZZ

WITH JULIE GORDON jgordon@amny.com

'I don't like people going to the bathroom [during my shows]. I'm sure I've gotta pee more than all of you and more often.'

—Jon Bon Jovi, who gulped down two cups of coffee and a glass of wine at an event Monday

Bits O' Buzz

Swift takes writing skills to the greeting card biz
Your next greeting card message could come straight from Taylor Swift. The country singer has inked a deal to pen copy for American Greetings. The cards are slated to hit shelves in the spring.

'Gossip Girl'-inspired drinks hit Empire Hotel
This fun bit of news comes courtesy of New York mag's Grub Street: The Empire Hotel last night launched $15 "Gossip Girl"-themed cocktails. On the show, Chuck Bass (Ed Westwick) owns the hotel.

Spotted around town
Reality star Kelly Osbourne joking with pals over Lil' Big Macs at STRK... Brooke Shields being honored at the Hope for Depression Research Foundation Luncheon at TD on the Park.

Nonstop Bon Jovi

After weeks of promoting their documentary, album and book, the guys of Bon Jovi need a break Monday night. Well, except for frontman Jon Bon Jovi, who performed a solo acoustic set at an American Express card member event at Lincoln Center.

"That's one of the reasons the guys aren't here tonight; they all went, 'E-- you,'" Jon laughingly told the crowd.

The rest of the boys had better get used to working nonstop. In February, they're set to head out on "The Circle Tour" only months after their last trip wrapped.

Even Jon isn't immune to worry, comparing the situation to Bon Jovi's back-to-back "Slippery When Wet" and "New Jersey" tours in the '80s that he said "almost killed us."

The saving grace: "Circle" is a "gentleman's tour," with more frequent breaks.

Richie Rich and Pamela Anderson walk at their A*Muse fashion show in New Zealand in September. (photos.com)

Pam & Richie's playfully serious design mantra

Rich is out-are and person loves to strut down the runway in said styles.

But the duo's women's line A*Muse, set to debut next year, comes with a serious message: create duds that are animal-friendly, a cause Anderson has long supported.

"Pam is adamant about making sure we don't hurt animals," Rich told us at the recent Cool vs. Grail fashion competition at the Bowery Hotel. "People will always eat meat, but the fur part is crazy."

Saget + Amish teens + mail-order bride

Bob Saget is one weird dude.

For his forthcoming reality show "Bob Saget's Strange Days" (2010), the "Full House" star immerses himself in different — and we mean different — ways of life.

"He'll go from ... living with a group of partying Amish teenagers before they decide whether they'll commit to be baptized as Amish adults, to submerging himself in the world of mail-order brides," according to A&E's press notes.

AM New York Nov 18.jpg
Type: JPEG Image
Size: 102 KB
Dimension: 960 x 720 pixels

yogaworks for everybody NOW OPEN IN SOHO
THE CLASSES